

We all want to share our ideas, thoughts, and feelings with others in whatever way we can.

We all want to do and see things, meet other people, go to new places, and have fun.

We all want to be accepted for the person we are on the inside and outside.

We all want to be happy and loved, have friends, and be treated with kindness and respect.

We all want to learn new things and explore our own interests.
